Rules for Computing Interest

The following will be found to be excellent rules for finding the interest on any principal for any number of days. When principal contains cents, point off four places from the right of the result to express the interest in dollars and cents. When the principal contains dollars only, point off two places.

TWO PER CENT.—Multiply the principal by the number of days to run, and divide by 180.

TWO AND ONE-HALF PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 146.

THREE PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 120.

THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days and divide by 104.

FOUR PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 90.

FIVE PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 72.

SIX PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 60.

SEVEN PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days and divide by 52.

EIGHT PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 45.

NINE PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 40.

TEN PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 36.

TWELVE PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 30.

FIFTEEN PER CENT.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 24.

Business Laws

Principals are responsible for the acts of their agents.

Contracts made on Sunday cannot be enforced. Written contracts concerning land must be under seal.

Notes do not bear interest unless it is so stated.

If a note is lost or stolen, the maker is not released if the consideration and amount can be proved.

Demand notes are payable when presented, without grace, and bear legal interest after a demand, if not so written.

An endorser on a demand note can be held only for a limited time, variable in different states.

To be negotiable a note must either be made payable to bearer or be properly endorsed by the person to whose order it is made.

If the endorser desires to avoid responsibility, he can endorse "without recourse."

Notes becoming due on Sunday or a legal holiday are, as a rule, payable on the day following.

A note made on Sunday, or one dated ahead of its issue, is void, but it may be dated back.

If a note is altered in any way by the holder it becomes void.

A note made by a minor is void in some States and is voidable on judicial decision in others.

A contract with a minor or a lunatic is void.

If a note is not paid when due, the endorsers, if any, should be legally notified to be holden.

A note obtained by fraud or given by an intoxicated person cannot be collected.

It is a fraud to conceal a fraud.

Signatures with a lead pencil are good in law.

The acts of one partner bind the others.

Each individual in a partnership is responsible for all the debts of the firm except in the case of a special partnership.

The word "limited" in connection with firm names indicates a limitation of responsibility for each member.

An agreement without consideration of value is void.

"Value received" should be written in a note, but it is not necessary. When not written, it is presumed by law or may be shown by proof.

A consideration is not sufficient in law if it is illegal in its nature.

An endorser of a note is exempt from liability if not served with a notice of its dishonor within 24 hours of its non-payment.

If a letter containing notice of protest of non-payment be put into the Post Office, any miscarriage does not affect the party giving notice.

Notice of protest may be sent either to the place of business or residence of the party notified.

A receipt for money is not legally conclusive.

Points of Constitutional Law

Congress must meet at least once a year.

Congress may admit as many new States as desired.

One State cannot undo the act of another.

By the constitution every citizen is guaranteed a speedy trial by jury.

A power which is vested in Congress alone cannot be exercised by a State.

One State must respect the legal decisions and laws of another.

Congress cannot pass a law to punish for a crime already committed.

A person who commits a felony in one State cannot find refuge in another.

Bills for revenue can originate only in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments.

Treaties with foreign powers are made by the President and ratified by the Senate.

The territories each have a delegate to Congress who is allowed the privilege of debate, but not the right to vote.

The Vice-President, who ex-officio presides over the Senate, has no vote in that body except in case of a tie ballot.

If the President holds a bill longer than ten days while Congress is in session it becomes a law without his signature.

An act of Congress cannot become a law over the President's veto except on a two-thirds vote of both Houses.

The House of Representatives may impeach the President for any crime, but the Senate has the sole power to try all impeachments.

An officer of the United States Government is not permitted to accept any title of nobility, order of honor, except with the permission of Congress.

Amendments to the Constitution of the United States require a two-thirds vote of each House of Congress, and must be ratified by at least three-fourths of the States.

The President of the United States must be at least 35 years of age; a Senator, 30; a Congressman, 25. The President must have been a resident within the United States fourteen years.

A naturalized citizen is not eligible to the office of President of the United States. A male child born in a foreign land to American parents has an equal chance to become the President with one born on American soil.

The United States shall guarantee to every State a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and on application of the Legislature or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic trouble.

Good Rules for Business Men

Don't worry; don't overbuy; don't go security. Keep your vitality up; keep insured; keep sober; keep cool.

Stick to chosen pursuits, but not to chosen methods.

Be content with small beginnings and develop them.

Be wary of dealing with unsuccessful men.

Be cautious, but when a bargain is made stick to it.

Keep down expenses, but don't be stingy.

Make friends, but not favorites.

Don't take new risks to retrieve old losses.

Stop a bad account at once.

Make plans ahead, but don't make them in cast iron.

Don't tell what you are going to do until you have done it.

EXPLANATION OF SMALL CRAFT, STORM, AND HURRICANE WARNINGS

The Small Craft Warning—A red pennant indicates that moderately strong winds that will interfere with the safe operation of small craft are expected.

The Northeast Storm Warning—A red pennant above a square red flag with black center displayed by day, or two red lanterns, one above the other, displayed by night, indicates the approach of a storm of marked violence with winds beginning from the northeast.

The Southeast Storm Warning—A red pennant below a square red flag with black center displayed by day, or one red lantern displayed by night, indicates the approach of a storm of marked violence with winds beginning from the southeast.

The Southwest Storm Warning—A white pennant below a square red flag with black center displayed by day, or a white lantern below a red lantern displayed by night, indicates the approach of a storm of marked violence with winds beginning from the southwest.

The Northwest Storm Warning—A white pennant above a square red flag with black center displayed by day, or a white lantern above a red lantern displayed by night, indicates the approach of a storm of marked violence with winds beginning from the northwest.

Hurricane, or Whole Gale Warning—Two square flags, red with black centers, one above the other, displayed by day, or two red lanterns, with a white lantern between, displayed by night, indicates the approach of a tropical hurricane, or one of the extremely severe and dangerous storms which occasionally occur.

Weather Wisdom

Sunset Colors: A gray, lowering sunset, or one where the sky is green or yellowish-green, indicates rain. A red sunrise with clouds lowering later in the morning, also indicates rain.

Sky Color: A deep blue color of the sky, even when seen through clouds, indicates fair weather; a glowing whiteness an approaching storm.

Visibility: Unusual clearness of the atmosphere, unusual brightness or twinkling of the stars indicate rain.

Fogs: Fogs indicate settled weather. A morning fog usually breaks away before noon.

Frost: The first frost and the last frost are usually preceded by a temperature very much above the mean.

Halo (Sun Dogs): By halo we mean the large circles, or part of circles, about the sun or moon. A halo occurring after fine weather indicates a storm.

Corona: By this term we mean the small colored circles frequently seen around the sun or moon. A corona growing smaller indicates rain; growing larger, fair weather.

Rainbows: A morning rainbow is regarded as a sign of rain; an evening rainbow of fair weather.

Help in Case of Accident

HELP IN CASE OF ACCIDENT

KEEP COOL — SEND FOR A PHYSICIAN

BURNS — Cover with sterile gauze or clean cloth soaked in baking soda solution (two tablespoons to a quart of tepid water) and bandage loosely. Treat for shock if burn is severe and secure immediate medical attention. In chemical burns first flush area with copious amounts of water and then proceed as above.

APOPLEXY — SUN STROKE — Loosen clothing, apply cold cloths to the head which should be elevated but give no stimulants.

SHOCK — Should be suspected when skin is cold and clammy, perspiration is profuse, face is pale and nausea and/or vomiting are present. Check for possible bleeding, put person on back, loosen clothing and cover with blankets and keep person quiet until seen by physician. Give water to drink only if person is conscious.

FAINTING — Put person on back, loosen clothing. If person does not recover consciousness in a very short time get medical assistance.

POISONING — Send immediately for a physician; then give copious amounts of water and induce vomiting. Remember that in most cases of poisoning it is good policy to dilute the poison and wash it out of the system. Remember too that alkalis are antidotes for acids and vice versa.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION — When breathing has ceased because of drowning, electrical shock, or inhalation or ingestion of poisonous substances, artificial respiration should be started immediately, preferably by the use of the Back Pressure-Arm Lift method. Victim is laid on his stomach with head resting on hands and face turned to one side. Kneel on one or both knees at head of person with hands placed on his back so that base of palms are in line with armpits and thumbs are touching.

Rock forward with arms stiff exerting pressure on back in smooth manner. Rock back and at the same time grasp arms between elbows and shoulders and draw them upward and outward until definite resistance is felt at his shoulders. Repeat this maneuver 12 times a minute until breathing becomes spontaneous.

While working, if possible have someone check mouth and tongue to be sure airway is clear. Victim should be kept warm as shock is always present in these cases. After he has regained consciousness, stimulants in the form of hot coffee or tea or a teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in a half glass of water can be given.

WOUNDS — Superficial or minor wounds should be thoroughly cleansed with soap and water and then covered with a sterile dressing. Deep or extensive wounds require the prompt attention of a physician. As a first aid measure they should be covered to avoid further contamination. Bleeding is controlled by direct pressure or by pressure applied to the pressure points.

FOREIGN BODY IN EYE — Grasp lashes of upper lid and pull lid out and over lower one. Foreign body EMBEDDED in the eye should be removed only by a physician.

PAINFUL INSECT STINGS — Apply weak ammonia solution. If stinger is present in bite, it should be removed with a tweezers.

FROST-BITE — Warm affected part very gradually by placing next to warm part of body or by applying warm (not hot) compresses to area.

NOSEBLEED — Most nosebleeds can be stopped by holding the nose firmly between the fingers for several minutes. After that the nose should only be blown gently to allow a firm clot to form.

NOTE! Never give an unconscious person anything to drink.

Artificial Respiration

LAY VICTIM IN PRONE POSITION

Elbows bent, one hand on the other. Head on hands, face to one side. Kneel at victim's head on either knee.

1
PLACE HANDS

Fingers spread, thumbs touching, heels of hands below line connecting armpits.

2
APPLY.
PRESSURE

Rock forward slowly until arms are vertical. Keep elbows straight.

3
RELEASE
PRESSURE

Rock back slowly. Grasp victim's arms just above elbows. Continue backward.

4
LIFT ARMS

Raise arms until tension is felt, then lower victim's arms, completing cycle.

REPEAT CYCLE 12 TIMES PER MINUTE

THE DIVINE OFFICE OF THE KITCHEN

By Cecily W. Hallack

"God walks among the pots and pipkins."—St. Theresa.

Lord of the pots and pipkins, since
I have no time to be A saint by doing lovely things and
vigiling with Thee,
By watching in the twilight dawn,
and storming Heaven's gates,
Make me a saint by getting meals
and washing of the plates!

Lord of the pots and pipkins, please,
I offer Thee for souls,
The tiresomeness of tea leaves, and the sticky porridge bowls!
Remind me of the things I need,
not just to save the stairs,
But so that I may perfectly lay tables into prayers.

Accept my roughened hands because
I made them so for Thee!
Pretend my dish-mop is a bow,
which, heavenly harmony
Makes on a fiddle frying-pan; it is so hard to clean,
And oh, so horrid! Hear, dear
Lord, the music that I mean!

Although I must have Martha hands, I have a Mary mind,
And when I black the boots, I try
Thy sandals, Lord, to find.
I think of how they trod our earth,
what time I scrub the floor,
Accept this meditation when I haven't time for more.

Vespers and Compline come to pass
by washing supper things
And, mostly, I am very tired; and all the heart that sings
About the morning's work, is gone,
before me, into bed.
Lend me, dear Lord, Thy Tireless
Heart, to work in me instead!

My Matins are said over-night to praise and bless Thy Name Beforehand for tomorrow's work, which will be just the same;
So that it seems I go to bed still in my working dress,
Lord, make Thy Cinderella soon a Heavenly Princess!

Warm all the kitchen with Thy Love, and light it with Thy Peace!

Forgive the worrying, and make the grumbling words to cease.

Lord, who laid breakfast on the shore, forgive the world which saith

"Can any good thing come to God out of poor Nazareth?"

A number of readers answered this request, many of whom sent the poem. Many of the poems received were not complete, some them containing only four stanzas.

Matthew, Mark, Luke and John,
Bless the bed that I lie on;
Four corners to my bed,
Four angels round my head;
God within, God without,
Blessed Jesu all about.

Another version is as follows:

Matthew, Mark, Luke and John,
Bless the bed that I sleep on;
Two angels at my head,
Four angels round my bed,
Two to watch and two to pray,
And two to carry my soul away.

These quotations may be found in "The Furniture of Our Forefathers," by Esther Singleton.

As I remember my grandmother repeating it to me the rhyme you mention runs—

Matthew, Mark, Luke and John,
Bless the bed that I lie on;
Four corners to my bed, four angels overhead;

One to watch and one to pray,
And two to bear my soul away.

A. L. B.

The following old Scotch rhyme may interest the inquirer:

Matthew, Mark, Luke and John,
Haud my horse till I get on;
Haud him siccar, haud him sair,
Haud him by the held o' hair!

April is the cruellest month, breeding
Lilacs out of the dead land, mixing memory and desire, stirring
Dull roots with spring rain.

Winter kept us warm, covering
Earth in forgetful snow, feeding
A little life with dried tubers.

Summer surprised us, coming over the Starnbergersee

With a shower grain, we stopped in the colonnade,

And went on in sunlight, into the Hofgarten,

And drank coffee, and talked for an hour.

"The quotation (slightly inaccurate) in the query of C. E. K. Feb. 16) is from 'Love and Death,' an 'imaginary autobiography' by Llewellyn Powys":

I have loved the beauty of your talking,
All the words you said
Nestled in my mind like blackbirds singing
Treasured in the head.
I remember all, I have remembered
Every word you said.

All your grace of mind and
grace of body,
Patterns that your feet
Made on paths of fern on hills
of bracken,
Counsels wise and sweet
How your face looked brighter than the morning
I had come to meet.

Went to Boston on 11.03.

Lunch with Mildred—rather unsatisfactory somehow. Her meeting with A.B. very tough. Mrs. La Rue Brown joined us with problem. It concerned Butch student hide and her citizenship. Promised to keep but when I got to office Betty Lavoie called up for me and found that lady could not petition until after she had been in USA a year and a day after her last arrival since she was away over a year.

July Was Vacation Month

With only two completely clear days last month, July could hardly qualify as one of the better vacation months of recent years.

Sixteen of July's 31 days were completely overcast and 13 more were clouded over part of the time. The clouds and overcast were accompanied by almost five inches of rain, but temperatures were completely normal for the month.

A total of 4.95 inches of rain fell here. The total was well above the average July rainfall of 3.56 inches but came nowhere near setting any records. It was the dampest July since only 1951, when 6.06 inches fell.

Mean temperature for the month was 72 degrees, a tenth of a degree off the 73-year old mean July temperature of 71.5 degrees recorded for Lawrence.

Highest temperature was 92 degrees, recorded for July 1 and 2 and the lowest was 53 degrees recorded July 23.

The mercury reached the 90's only on the first two days of the month and except for the 6th, 27th and 28th, when it never rose out of the 60's, hovered in the 70's and 80's during the day.

Nights were comparatively comfortable. Temperatures stayed in the 70's only on the nights of the 2nd, 16th and 19th. They fell to the 50's six times and were in the 60's the remainder of the time.

We are all blind, until we see
That in the human plane
Nothing is worth the making
If it does not make the man.

Why build these cities glorious
If man unbuilded goes?
In vain we build the work unless
The builder also grows.

Chilliest Aug. 19 In Hub in 76 Years

The Hub had chilly spokes his morning. The temperature registered at 50 degrees, and man, that's cold in these parts on Aug. 19. It has been chillier—Aug. 19 in 1882, 76 years ago—the temperature read 51 degrees. That's the record for Aug. 19.

The forecaster at the Boston Weather Bureau says it is caused by the cold air coming in from Canada.

And he also reports that tomorrow most as morning will be all should hit a bit over 70 degrees tomorrow morning. It was in the 70's today in the sun.

It was a bit chillier in Maine this morning, with 42 degrees registered in Rumford.

Low reading for the month was 56 degrees on the 19th. At the end of the month the average temperature excess was only nine-tenths of a degree above normal.

Lost Love

By Andrew Lang

Who wins his love shall lose her,
Who loses her shall gain;
For still the spirit woos her—
A soul without a stain.
And memory still pursues her
With longings not in vain!

He loses her who gains her,
Who watches day by day
The dust of time that stains her,
The griefs that leave her gray,
The flesh that still enchains her,
Whose grace hath passed away!

Oh, happier he who gains not
The Love some seem to gain;
The joy that custom stales not
Shall still with him remain.
The loveliness that wanes not,
The Love that ne'er can wane.

In dreams she grows not older
The lands of Dream among;
Though all the world wax colder,
Though all the songs be sung;
In dreams doth he behold her,
Still fair and kind and young.

"It will suffice that my poor mortal remains be simply deposited in a sacred place, the more obscure the more welcome.

"I need not recommend myself to prayers for my soul. I know how numerous are these which the norms of the Apostolic See provide and the piety of the faithful offers for a deceased pope.

"Neither do I find need to leave a 'spiritual testament,' as so many praiseworthy prelates normally do. The many acts and discourses decreed and pronounced by me because of my office, suffice to make my thoughts on various religious and moral questions known to anyone who might perhaps wish to know them.

"Having set down this, I name as my universal heir the Holy Apostolic See from which I have received so much, as from a most loving Mother.

"PIUS PP XII."

Dropping the ceremonial "We" of office, the pontiff referred to himself as "I" and "me" throughout the document which opened with the invocation: "Misere mei Deus, secundum (magnum) misericordiam Tuam"—Have mercy on me, Oh God, according to Your great mercy.

"These words," it continued, "which I, knowing myself to be not worthy of them or equal to them, pronounced when I accepted with trepidation my election to the supreme pontificate, I now repeat with much greater foundation at this time when the realization of the deficiencies, shortcomings and faults of so long a pontificate in an epoch so grave, brings my insufficiencies and unworthiness more clearly to mind.

Catholic Relief Services, National Catholic Welfare Conference, announced that legislation signed by President Eisenhower provides the issuance of 1500 special non-quota visas for Portuguese refugees who lost their homes in the recent earth quakes and volcanic eruption in the Azores. Sponsors of these refugees are now being sought. It is hoped that some of these refugees may be sponsored by people in the Boston area. The local office of the Resettlement Committee is the Catholic Charitable Bureau, 25 Hanly Street Boston.

Miss Patricia Mc Walters is the refugee representative. Sponsors are asked to guarantee homes, jobs and transportation costs. Requests have been made to governmental and inter-governmental agencies for loans to provide travel for the displaced persons.

56 Inches of Rain Makes '58 Wettest In History Here

In the first ten months of this year, Boston has received 56.52 inches of precipitation, the greatest amount ever recorded here for a corresponding period in 87 years of official record.

And, added the weather bureau last night, in sharp contrast, last year's total of 21.59 inches for the same period was the least precipitation ever officially recorded. The normal for January through October is 31.90 inches.

The total precipitation for October was 4.62 inches, virtually all of which fell after the 22d.

THE B

December in Boston

Boston had its coldest December in 41 years.

Not since 1917, in the days of World War I, have the temperatures of the year's final month plunged so low.

Yet, as far as official records dating back to 1870 go, this was only the sixth coldest December in history since the warming trend of the past month kept the mean temperatures in 16.4 degrees.

This was 6.4 degrees below normal, but the following Decembers were:

Year	Degrees in
1876	22.2
1872	23.2
1817	23.7

THE SLOTHFUL SERVANT

I did not hide the coin; I only laid
The piece aside, thinking tomorrow ought
To bring the hour to go where goods are bought
And sold and multiply the gold in trade,
Because the sum was small, the talent stayed
An idle coin, and hurried years have brought Their round of petty cares that seemed, I thought,
Importunate. Perhaps I was afraid.

I failed the lesser part through discontent,
For though the talent was forever
small
To gamble in a game where giants play,
Yet I was fretted by that piece—
unspent;
It would have answered better either way
Had I been given more or none at all.

A VAGABOND SONG

By Bliss Carman

There is something in the autumn
that is native to my blood
Touch of manner, hint of mood:
And my heart is like a rhyme
With the yellow and the purple and the crimson keeping time.

The scarlet of the maples can shake me like a cry
Of bugles going by.
And my lonely spirit thrills
To see the frosty asters
Like a smoke upon the hills.

There is something in October sets
the gypsy blood astir;
We must rise and follow her
When from every hill of flame
She calls and calls each vagabond
by name.

Book One - Chap. XII

Lawrence experienced the coldest Dec. 11 since 1934 Thursday when the mercury at the Lawrence Dam read zero at 6 a.m. According to the Essex company, the previous lowest reading was three above zero at 6 a.m. 24 years ago.

The coldest spot in the Greater Lawrence area was at the old car barn in Salem, N.H. at 6 a.m. when the mercury hit a low of 28 below zero, according to unofficial reports. In North Andover on Great Pond road and on Lowell street in Andover the reading was about 14 degrees below zero. Ten degrees below zero was recorded at 6 a.m. at the water department's garage on Cross street, Methuen.

According to the Lawrence police department's thermometer, the temperatures remained below freezing but at no time below zero. It was 16 at midnight; 14 at 3 a.m., 12 at 6 a.m.; 16 above at 9 a.m. and 23 above at noon.

The icy grip is expected to continue in Greater Lawrence this week end and snow has been forecast for Friday.

Went to Federal Bldg - walked. Present Bot Segal, Father Dunan, Mr. Knapp, Lou Smutts, Remonte of Boston City Council, Mr. McElvra. We waited some time for the Congressman. He was AWFUL --- a pompous ass - more like John Desmond for than seemed possible. He gave no promises & no worthwhile info. All a deal app between Rayburn & himself. Finally I left too late for 5.14. Went up to office. Rev Mr. Knapp acc. me.
